

SYNOPSIS:

During the Healthy Food & Exercise assembly, a few fourth and fifth graders decided they would have a food fight in the cafeteria. Cornbread's teacher, Ms. Robinson, became highly upset, but decided to use this as a teachable moment instead of punishing the children immediately. So, she presented them with a challenge: fourth and fifth graders were not allowed to drink any sugary drinks, or eat any junk food or meat, except fish, chicken, and turkey for the rest of the week. If even one person failed the challenge, she would cancel the field trip to Orlando, Florida, for all fourth and fifth graders.
